Parents

Do not force your children to participate in sports, but support their desire to play their chosen sport. Children are involved in organized sports for their enjoyment. Make it fun.

Encourage your child to play by the rules. Remember, children learn best by example, so applaud the good plays of both teams.

Do not embarrass your child by yelling at players, coaches or officials. By showing a positive attitude toward the game and all of its participants, your child will benefit.

Emphasize skill development and practices and how they benefit your young athlete.

Deemphasize games and competition in the younger age levels.

Know and study the rules of baseball, and support the officials on and off the field. This approach will help in the development and support of the game. Any criticism of the officials only hurts the game.

Applaud a good effort in both victory and defeat and enforce the positive points of the game.

Never yell or physically abuse your child after a game or practice. It is destructive. Work toward removing physical and verbal abuse in youth sports.

Recognize the importance of volunteer coaches. They are important to the development of your child and the sport.

Communicate with them and support them.

If you enjoy the game, learn all you can and dedicate time as a volunteer!

Spectators

Display good sportsmanship. Always respect players, coaches and officials.

Act appropriately; do not taunt or disturb other fans. Enjoy the game together.

Cheer good plays of all participants, avoid booing opponents.

Cheer in a positive manner and encourage fair play; profanity and objectionable cheers or gestures are offensive.

Help provide a safe and fun environment; throwing objects on the field can cause injury to players and officials.

Support the umpires and coaches by trusting their judgment and integrity.

Be responsible for your own safety and remain alert to help prevent accidents.

Respect dugouts as private areas for players, coaches and officials.

Be supportive after the game, win or lose. Recognize good efforts, teamwork and sportsmanship.

Failure to abide by SIBL's Low Tolerance Policies may result in disciplinary actions up to and including ejection and or termination from SIBL, against the player(s), parent(s), coach(s) and/or spectator(s) involved, at the sole discretion of the SIBL Board of Directors.
